

Charles Curtis
Executive Director of Information Technology

Education

2006: Six Sigma Green Belt certification Textron Six Sigma Program Office
2000: Executive Mini-MBA American Graduate School of International Management
1980: MBA Southern Methodist University, finance and accounting emphasis
1975: BA Austin College, honors in Business and Economics
1969: Private Pilot's License Federal Aviation Administration

Professional Roles

2015 - Austin College – Interim then Executive Director of Information Technology
2013-2015 Individual Management and Information Technology Consultant
2007-2013 Bell Helicopter (Textron) – I.T. Business Partner, Enterprise Architect
2003-2007 Textron Information Services– Executive Director
1998-2003 Bell Helicopter (Textron) - ending as VP/CIO after several other I.T. roles
1996-1998 Cessna Aircraft (Textron) - Director of Mgt. Information Systems (CIO)
1983-1996 Lockheed Martin Ft. Worth - Ending as Director of Information Resource Mgt. (CIO) after several Manufacturing, Engineering, and I.T. Roles
1982-1983 Consultant - served as Finance/Accounting Manager for Space Services Inc.
1980-1981 Dynamco Data Systems – Vice President of Operations and Sales
1976-1979 General Dynamics/Ft. Worth – Supervisor, Manufacturing Systems
1975-1976 Electronic Data Systems – Systems Engineer

Service & Giving

- Member, Stephen F. Austin Society at Austin College - 2017
- Pro-bono Consultant to Austin College Information Technology – 2014-2015
- Consultant and Volunteer to Tarrant Area Food Bank – 2013-2015
- Member, Austin College President's Visiting Council – 2013-2015
- Committee Chair/Member, College of Business Advisory Board, University of North Texas – 2011-2015
- Chair/Member, Information Technology/Decision Sciences Advisory Board, University of North Texas – 2006-2015
- Volunteer to Tarrant County Habitat for Humanity – 2002
- Volunteer to United We Stand (POW/MIA Support) – 1970-1971