

Visiting Assistant Professor of Fiction Writing

The Department of English invites applications for a one year Visiting Assistant Professor in fiction writing to teach introductory writing and literature courses, fiction writing and/or creative nonfiction, and topics courses in literature. The English department values a diverse and flexible curriculum, and welcomes topics courses in literature on any area of interest, including courses that engage issues such as gender; power, privilege, and inequality; or interdisciplinary approaches to literature. The teaching load is 3-1-3, including a January Term class. Ph.D. Required. The position will begin August 2019. Review of applications begins March 25, 2019. Interviews via Skype.

Austin College is a leading national independent liberal arts college located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. Founded in 1849, making it the oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under original charter and name, the college is related by covenant to the Presbyterian Church (USA). Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, Austin College is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book Colleges That Change Lives.

To apply, please submit a letter of application, CV, copies of graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Please combine materials into one PDF document email to EnglishSearch@austincollege.edu (preferred). Referees should send letters of recommendation to the same email address with the applicant's name in the subject line. You may mail hard copies to Dr. Elizabeth Gill, Vice President for Academic Affairs, 900 N. Grand Ave., Suite 6D, Sherman, Texas 75090-4400. For further information contact Dr. Gregory Kinzer, English Department chair, at gkinzer@austincollege.edu.

Austin College is a selective national liberal arts college with an enrollment of 1300 undergraduates located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. The oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under its original charter and name, Austin College was founded in 1849. The college is related by covenant to the Presbyterian Church (USA). Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, Austin College is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book Colleges That Change Lives.

Austin College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff and student body and welcomes all applicants. To be considered, applicants must be legally authorized to work without sponsorship for employment visa status (e.g., H1B status).